

Staff Profiles 2007

Jo Ankor
Project Development Officer

Interested in the dynamism of cultural diversity and cultural ownership

Certificate IV in Assessment and Workplace Training

Honours degree in Cultural Tourism

2007 Gave paper at the Tourists and Tourism in a Visual World conference, Centre for Tourism Policy Studies, University of Brighton, UK

Currently working on a Doctoral thesis, with Dr Stephen Wearing at the University of Technology Sydney, Pleasure and Dread: the Paradox of Travel. If anyone can tell her what it is all about, she would be very grateful.

Loves working at CANSAs!

Fills in spare timesinging Jazz and sailing very big boats with pretty sails. (The crew say they put her at the front to work the pretty sail because she is small ish and doesn't upset the boat's balance. Jo suspects that they are really waiting for the day she falls off, preferably spectacularly.)
